
WEEKLY NEWSLETTER

MY DEAR LADIES

I apologize for the late newsletter this week.

Unfortunately, I overestimated my ability to multitask and underestimated the number of events I had for the weekend.

Last week was a week of discovery.

I witnessed how you navigated joining new groups and tackling the assignments. It was inspirational and oddly comforting.

I am also excited to see how you all interpreted the assignments and whether the past two weeks have been valuable, if not memorable.

..... WEEKLY NEWSLETTER

The week has already begun in high gear, and I hope you all are doing amazing things in your spheres of influence!

I am excited to hand over the weekly meet up to you all! See you then!

Never hesitate to reach out.

Yours truly,
